

3. Practice Direction No 4 of 1993 - Delivery of decision by other than trial Judge

Pursuant to section 72 of the Supreme Court Act, I direct that:

When any proceeding, after being fully heard before a judge, is ordered to stand for judgment and the judge is absent from the Northern Territory and the judgment and reasons for judgment have been reduced to writing by the judge, then the same may be made and published by any other judge in the Northern Territory. In any such case the judgment and reasons shall have the same force and effect as if the judge whose judgment and reasons so made and published had been present in court in the Territory and had made and delivered the same in person.
