

2. Practice Direction No 3 of 1992 - Usual undertaking as to damages

Where, in relation to an interlocutory injunction or undertaking to the court, an undertaking as to damages is to be given, a "usual undertaking as to damages" will be an undertaking to pay to any party adversely affected by the interlocutory injunction or undertaking such compensation (if any) as the court thinks just, in such manner as the court directs.

13 November 1992